Long Ago and Now Reading

Read the passage. Answer the questions.

People that lived long ago had very different lives than we do now. For transportation, people that lived long ago had to take trips in wagons or on horses. Most people did not live in large homes. Homes were often log cabins. Many people long ago made their own clothes and washed the clothing by hand. They usually had to hunt for and grow their own food. They would cook their food over a fire or on a wood stove. They didn't have running water or even bathrooms inside their homes!

People that live now have many things that people long ago did not have. For transportation, we can take trips in cars, trains, and planes. We can go to a store to buy things we need, such as, clothes and food. Machines, such as, washing machines, stoves, and dishwashers help us do all the things we need to do.

1. How did people that lived long ago wash their clothing?

_____

2. How did people that lived long ago cook their food?

_____

3. How can people that live now travel?

_____

4. Where can people that live now go to buy things we need?
